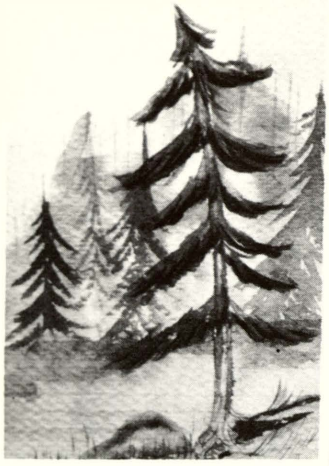
Donna Eagle
1939-1982



We on the yearbook staff are dedicating this yearbook to Mrs. Donna Eagle for all her years of teaching in the Freeland School District. She had worked 15 years in this school district and she did an outstanding job.

Mrs. Eagle went to Hartley practically every year and she loved going there. Mrs. Eagle loved children and she loved her job. Many nights, hours after everyone else had left, you could find her in her classroom working. Her summers were spent planning for the next year.

Mrs. Eagle had a hobby that not many people knew about, she was an artist and she was a very good one too.

Those people who knew Mrs. Eagle will dearly miss a great teacher and an outstanding friend.

Through our trials and tribulations we have toughed it out and are happy to bring many new ideas to this years book. With thanks to Mr. Hoelzle and Mr. Gale, the yearbook staff proudly presents

The Year

WORLD NEWS

In world news this year; Charles and Lady Di have a little prince. William Aurthur Philip Louis was born in July of 1982.

OPEC nations are arguing over oil prices as some of the Pursian Gulf States dropped prices by almost $13.00 per barrel.

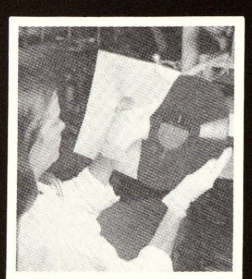
18. Let's Groove
19. Open Arms
20. We Got The Beat

The Tylenol tragedy hit Chicago. 7 people died and cyanide was found in the Extra-Strength Capsuals. The company lost millions of dollars and the police still haven't found who did it.

Summer Football U.S.F.L.

Pro-football has been further complicated by the formation of the United States Football League. The new teams are: The Michigan Panthers, The Birmingham Stallions, The New Jersey Generals, The Philadelphia Stars, The Washington Federals, The Chicago Blitz, The Tampa Bay Bandits, The Los Angeles Express, The Denver Gold, The Arizona Wranglers, The Oakland Invaders, and the Boston Breakers.



1982-83

Movies

The year brought us a wide fare of movies to choose from. No one could have predicted the phemonenal success of E.T. (the Extra Terrestrial). So far this movie and its offshoots (t-shirts, cups, posters, etc.) have grossed over half a billion dollars.

Here are some other great flicks we enjoyed this year. Eddie Murphy of Saturday Night Live starred in 48 hours, a comedy adventure. Airplane II: The Sequel continued the crazy sight gags and spoof of disaster films. Richard Pryor in The Toy portrayed a reluctant playmate hired by a rich kid for entertainment.

Some of the forgettable movies of the year included, The Dark Crystal, The Entity, and _____.

An epic film, Gandhi faithfully followed the life of this unique world leader who moved millions of people yet never held any political office.

1983 may be correctly called the Year of the Sequel with such films as Superman III, Rocky III, Airplane II and The Trail of the Pink Panther. Who knows what's ahead?

Computer News — The craze is on! This year saw the rapid expansion of the computer industry. One aspect of this, arcade and home video games, has probably touched all of our lives. If you don't know Pac-Man, Donkey-Kong and Frogger, you probably have been hiding in a cave.

Personal computer sales have skyrocketed and schools are trying to find money in their very tight budgets for computers and software. Computer clubs and classes have sprung up to give us the opportunity to learn how to use computers and even how to program them.

We know that we must be prepared for the computer age that has arrived. Our school is keeping pace. We have here in our building four Commodore Pets, two Commodore 64's, and an Apple II, with a printer. The elementary and high school buildings have also made computer purchases and added computer use to their programs.

FADS — 1. Friendship pins 2. punk hair 3. Valley talk like fersure 4. Mini skirts 5. Face job 6. computers 7. ET

Fads — fersure fersure. Totally awesome were two of the most widely used phrases in the U.S. this year. Everyone with punk hair and mini skirts were considered normal. Computers were also big. To be truthful all most people can say is "face!"

Football Players Strike Out

On September 21, 1982, the National Football League walked out on strike. They said they wanted a larger percentage of the television rights. After eight weeks of negotiations, the players ratified an agreement for not only television money but they also had to get a new schedule and work out their playoffs. The agreement was that five teams from each conference (AFC and NFC) would be in the playoffs. Football players became almost as popular as skunks.

Finally on January 23rd the Super Bowl game was played. The Washington Redskins played the Miami Dolphins. The Redskins won it ending a very unusual season.

POLITICS

This year the Michigan voters elected the first Democratic governor in at least fifteen years. He is James Blanchard. He broke new ground for our state by choosing Martha Griffin for his Lieutenant Governor. She is the first woman to hold such a high office in Michigan. He takes office in difficult times with Michigan among the states with high unemployment, a large deficit and many cuts having already been made in education and social services. We wish him the best of luck in helping solve our state's many problems.

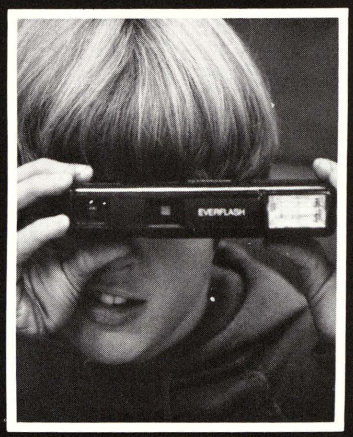
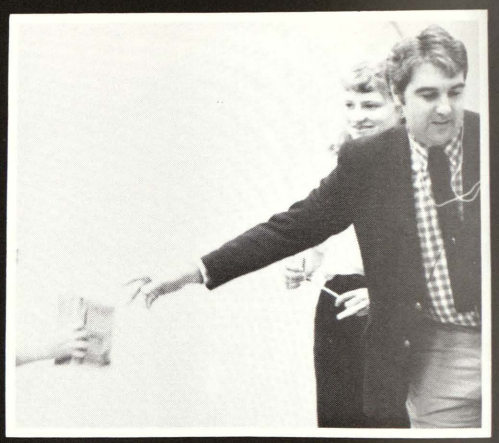
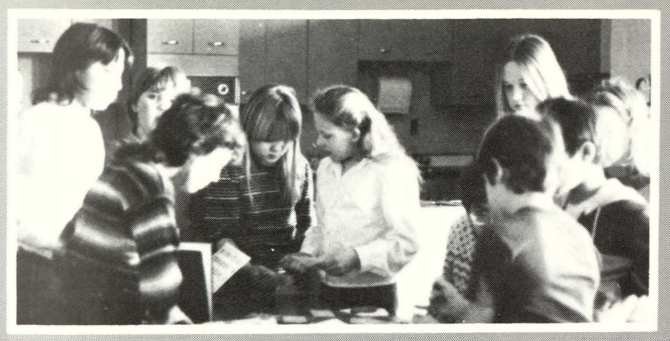
Magazines For Sale

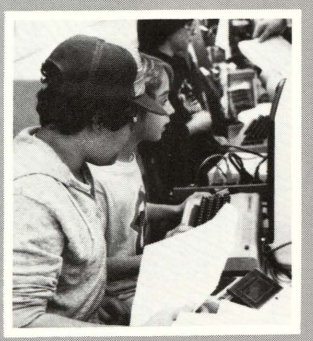
"And the Winner Is . . ."

The magazine sale this past year brought in enough money for the middle school to purchase three computers, some software, and books for the library. In addition the money left over pays for dances, field days, and speakers or assemblies that the students enjoy throughout the school year. The student council would like to thank those who have helped to support us by purchasing magazines.









Groupies!

The clubs that the students have participated in this year are: the Computer Club, Art Club, Stamp Club, and the Clown Club (which is not featured). These clubs meet after school and bring creativity and a lot of fun to those who participate.
